Dear Dr Grof,

We hereby confirm that UK national charity, Invest in ME, has received a GBP 1000 donation from FM-CFS Canada which will be moved to the charity's ring-fenced rituximab clinical trial fund.

The donation was received on 24th of December 2014.

We would like to thank FM-CFS Canada's kind and generous support for Invest in ME's rituximab trial fund.

This is the second occasion that FM-CFS Canada has donated to the trial fund and enforces the international dimension of the trial and demonstrates how important international collaboration is for progress for ME/CFS.

At the moment the research team have been working on the B cell biology that they and our advisor Professor Jonathan Edwards feel is needed in order to design a trial that will best complement the Norwegian work.

There is close collaboration between the research groups in the UK with whom Invest in ME are working, as well as with Norway on various aspects of B cell involvement.

This collaborative work helps us make the best use of our available resources for the benefit of patients and the cause.

The very generous donations from FM-CFS Canada help enormously in continuing this venture and ensuring that people with ME/CFS and their families all over the world can look forward with hope for a better future.

Many thanks again from all at the charity for your wonderful support.

We would like to wish you and your members a very Happy New Year,

Yours Sincerely,
